BAPTIST CHURCH ORGANIZED AT EKRON; FIRST IN THE HISTORY OF THE TOWN.

A council composed of the following met at Ekron last Wednesday for the purpose of organizing a Baptist church: J. N. Nease, George Nease, Simeon church; Rev. S. H. Tabb, Rev. J. T. Williams, Rev. E. S. Dowell, Rev. Jake Bonger, Rev. S. P. Saunders, Buck Grove church; Richard Willett, Noah Hicks, Hill Grove church; Rev. J. J. Willett and Rev. J. M. Hickerson, Brandenburg church. The following visiting ministers also were present: Rev. W. H. Bruner, Brandenburg; Rev. W. H. Setzer, Stephenson; and Rev. J. G. Bow, Louisville.

Dr. Bow was called to the chair and Rev. Tabb was elected clerk. Dr. Bow preached a sermon, and then the meeting adjourned to dinner. The evening session opened at 2 o'clock with the song, "All Hail the Power," which was followed with prayer by E. B. Bruner. Letters for admission to the new church were presented by the following Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Shacklett, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Shacklett, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Z. T. Cox, Mrs. Annie Fyrmire, Miss Cora Dowell, Frank Wright, Mrs. Bettie Richardson, Mrs. Mattie Shacklett, Miss Mandi Payne, Miss L. Lee Payne, Mrs. Helle Shacklett.

The council received the letters and proceeded to the organization of the church. The clerk read the covenant, which is published below. Rev. Willett moved that the covenant was sound and suitable and that it be adopted, which was done.

The articles of faith were read by the clerk and pronounced sound and scriptural by Rev. Bruner, who moved their adoption.

"How Firm a Foundation ye Saints of the Lord" was sung while the members of other churches present extended the right hand of fellowship to the members of the new church.

Rev. J. J. Willett delivered the charge to the church. Rev. Tabb following with prayer. The council having accomplished its work, now adjourned.

B. B. Shacklett suggested that the church be called the Ekron Baptist church and Z. T. Cox suggested that it be called the Shacklett Memorial Baptist church. Mr. Shacklett's suggestion met with the approval of the members and the new church will be known as the Ekron Baptist church.

The election of a pastor and officers was the next order of business. The vote was taken by secret ballot and resulted in the election of Rev. Dr. Shacklett as pastor, Z. T. Cox as clerk, and B. B. Shacklett, Z. T. Cox, J. Payne and B. W. Shacklett deacons. The meeting adjourned then to meet on the fourth Saturday in July.

The meeting was held in the mill house at D. S. Childs, and all those present were much interested in its proceedings. An excellent dinner was served on the grounds.

Mr. Cox donated the ground for the new church building and $100 toward its construction. Other members were liberal in their donations. Ekron is fifteen years old and this is the first church that has been organized there.

CHURCH COVENANT.

Thanking God for the light we have received, and for the revelation of Jesus which we enjoy, and hoping that God, for Christ's sake has pardoned our sins, and having been baptized on a profession of faith in Jesus into the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, we do, this day, before God and the world, with deep joy and great solemnity, enter into covenant with one another as one body in Christ.

We therefore covenant and agree, that by the aid of the Holy Spirit, we will walk together in love and Christian fellowship. We promise to labor for the advancement and final triumph of the church, to sustain her worship by attending the house of God and supporting the ministry to guard her ordinances, enforce her discipline, and defend her doctrine.

We also pledge ourselves to walk circumspectly in the world, to be honest, just and faithful in our business relations, and, as God may give us help, we promise to live righteous and holy lives.

We further promise to watch over each other in brotherly love, to visit the sick, to pray for each other and the world, to aid the poor and needy, and to perform each other kind offices as may be well pleasing in the sight of God.

ARTICLES OF FAITH.

1. We believe in the Holy Bible, written by men divinely inspired, and full of unimpaired truth.

2. We believe in one God, Father, Son, and Holy Ghost.

3. We believe that man once holy, fell by voluntary transgression from that happy state, and is now utterly ruined by sin.

4. We believe that sinners are saved by grace alone.

5. We believe that men are justified by faith in the Lord Jesus Christ.

6. We believe that salvation is free to all who will accept the gospel.

7. We believe that, except that a man be renewed by the Holy Spirit, he is not qualified or prepared for the Kingdom of Christ on earth, or to enjoy his glory hereafter.

8. We believe that man's perseverance toward God and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ are the duties of every one who hears the gospel.

9. We believe that election is the eternal purpose of God, by which he graciously regenerates, sanctifies, and saves sinners.

10. We believe that sanctification, the progress of the Christian, and the progress, is the process by which we are made to partake of God's holiness.

11. We believe in the preservation of the saints, that they are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation.

12. We believe that God's law is not only the eternal and unchangeable, rule of his church and moral government.

13. We believe that a church of Christ is a congregation of baptized believers, united in the faith and fellowship of the Gospel, observing the ordinances and obeying the laws of Christ and that its officers and pastors are deacons.

14. We believe that Christian baptism is the immersion of a believer in water by a properly qualified administrator, into the name of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost.

15. We believe that only such as have been properly baptized and received into fellowship of a regularly organized Baptist Church, should partake of the Lord's supper.

16. We believe that the Lord's day Christian Sabbath should be devoutly observed, and sacredly devoted to religious services.

17. We believe that civil government is of divine appointment, and that the governors of states and nations should be obeyed when the laws they seek to enforce are not in conflict with the Gospel.

18. We believe in the future resurrection of the dead.

19. We believe in the final judgment, and that day the righteous and wicked will be separated forever.

20. We believe that the righteous will be made happy forever in heaven, and the wicked miserable forever, in hell.

DEDICATED SUNDAY.

The handsome new M. E. church, South, at Glendene, was dedicated Sunday by Dr. J. J. Tigert, of Nashville, in the presence of people from all parts of the county. The dedicatory services were interesting and spiritually and intellectually enjoyed by the good crowd present which was served with a basket dinner by the hospitable people of Glendene. Arrangements which were made for special train service over the branch made it very convenient for all those who attended from neighboring towns.

The Glendene Methodist church is a credit to the town. Though the membership was not small, the good work was pushed forward and they now have a neat, up-to-date church. Enough money was raised at the dedication Sunday to pay off the small debt remaining on the building.

The wayfarer who heeds this invitation and enters the building, is at once made to feel "at home"—the spirit of the place is fittingly symbolized by the state button, which bears a picture of the building, with the legend: "The Kentucky Home—It's a part of mine." Here pleasant hours may be spent under the guidance of the genial Secretary, Mr. R. E. Hughes, or of the fair hostess, Mrs. Smith, in viewing the social, artistic, and sentimental side of Kentucky life and manners. In the richly furnished rooms of the first floor are displayed oil-portraits of Kentucky's famous characters, as well as other specimens of native art. Pendant from the balcony of the second floor, and almost sweeping the carpet of the first, hangs a colossal and beautiful flag of silk, which possesses historic charm. It is the "home coming" flag of the battleship Kentucky, when that vessel was homeward bound from the Asiatic station, under the command of Capt. William A. Saylor. Berry, himself a Kentuckian. Upon the arrival of the Kentucky in home waters, her officers and crew sent the flag as a present to Governor Beckham. Its beautiful folds show little evidence of wear from its 33,000-mile journey across seas. Elegant parlors, reception

WORLD'S FAIR.

Blue Grass Traditions Splendidly
Upheld and Reputation of State Enhanced.

[By T. K. HEDGECOCK.]

If you ask a Kentuckian what is the principal exhibit of his state at the World's Fair, he probably will point in the general direction of the Administration building, and say "President Francis." President Francis is a Kentucky product, but, as Missouri and the nation at large claim some proprietary interest in him, Kentucky has seen fit to make other representations exclusively her own.

The qualities and resources of the state are comprehensively and eloquently attested to in these exhibits, and citizens of Kentucky may well be proud of the showing made in every department to which the state has contributed. For it is represented in nearly every major department of the Exposition. In art, history, commerce, and in natural resources, Kentucky stands well forward.

A state of noble traditions and rich in storied memories of great deeds and great men, it has yet seen fit to subordinate these in some degree to matters of more present moment, dominating it all, it is to show the world not so much what Kentucky has done, as what it is doing and can do. Without any abandonment of those social features which have made her famous for open-hearted hospitality, Kentucky yet shows that she stands second to no locality in her commercial opportunities, nor the rewards she has to offer to individual effort, rightly applied.

Accepting the keynote of the World's Fair, which is sounded as "an exhibition of processes," the state has gone in harmony with the idea, and shows the full range of her powers. In the Palace of Agriculture, Kentucky's displays include an exhibition of hemp culture and manufacture, and all the evolutionary processes of the tobacco plant, from its growth to its manufacture into finished products which bring rosy cheeks to the consumer of the "philosophic weed." And of these there are illustrations of what can be done with rice and corn, without which a Kentucky display would be incomplete.

Kentucky's display of clay in the Palace of Mines and the world is in itself a wonder-world. To him who has imagined that clay was used simply to make chimneys and bricks, this exhibit is a revelation. It is a liberal education in ceramics, and in the utilization of the humble material in building, fire-proofing and in art pottery. The rock quarries in operation, and the display of "canal" in the same building, further attest the riches that lie beneath the surface of the once "dark and bloody ground."

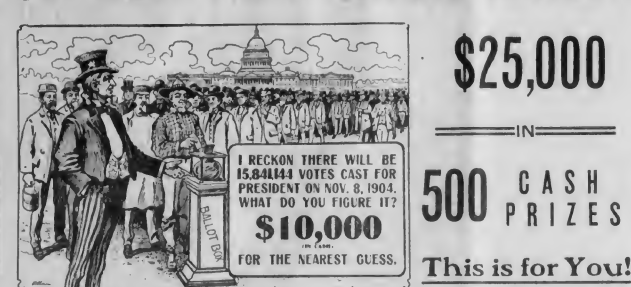

The Kentuckian visiting the Fair should not fail to take cognizance of these things. It is well worth while to what his state is doing in the way of education and art. The Palace of Education is a fine development of the public school system of Louisville during a period of 115 years, and so few interesting the progress that has been made in the manual and literary education of the blind, as exemplified in the work of the pupils of the Kentucky School for the Blind.

Tessifying to the artistry of the state, and showing that its worth has won recognition from the masters, are several pieces of statuary by Kentucky sculptors, which are incorporated in the decorations of the main building of the Fair. Notable among these is a beautiful "Victory" by Miss Erid Vandell, of Louisville, crowning the dome of the Cascade restaurant building.

In the Palace of Fine Arts Kentucky is also well represented, but perhaps the state's best display of this nature is in the Kentucky State Building, where it shows a complete and interesting art gallery of its own. Here are numerous fine canvases by Hewitt Greene, Miss Thurm, and other artists, besides striking sculptural decorations and single pieces of statuary.

Parker in the Lead.

St. Louis, July 5.—It is about all over but the shouting, and while the hallooing for the President will not take place until Thursday night or Friday, Parker is as good as nominated, and as told in these dispatches Sunday night the ticket is most likely to be Parker and Turner. The tally kept by the correspondent shows that Parker has already 720 votes, or over fifty votes more than the necessary two-thirds to effect a nomination. The only opposition to him is the Eades vote of probably 160 and the vote of three or four states which will be hot for favorite sons. Therefore the nomination of Parker will be effected upon the first ballot.

HEALTH

"I don't think we could keep house without Thedford's Black-Draught. We have used it in the family for over two years with the best of results. I have not a doctor in the house for that length of time. It is a doctor in itself and always ready to make a person well and happy."—JAMES HALL, Jackson, Ill.

Because this great medicine relieves stomach pains, frees the constipated bowels and invigorates the torpid liver and weakens kidneys is necessary in the home where Thedford's Black-Draught is kept. Families living in the country, miles from any physician, have been kept in health for years with this medicine as their only doctor.

No DOCTOR

Thedford's Black-Draught cures biliousness, dyspepsia, colic, chills and fever, bad blood, headache, diarrhea, constipation, colic and almost every other ailment because it cleans the stomach, liver and kidneys so nearly completely the health.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

This And That In And About Texas.

Dear News: In looking through old letters and papers, in "timely a check" the other day, I chanced upon a letter penned for the "News" just one year after my arrival in Texas, and, if not imposing upon your good nature and valuable space, I will insert it here for the perusal of many old friends, who repeatedly have asked me to write.

You may wonder why I delayed so long. My answer is: My other self (my husband) is converted to Texas manners and customs, more than I, therefore he has "let" to omit some expressions," but a woman sometimes has her way, so here it is—

Today marks the twelve-month period of our sojourn in the Lone Star state. Friends ask, "How is Texas by this time?" Having experienced the changes four seasons bring we can better judge of Texas as a state, and of its climate, products and people than we could before, and in the language of an eastern resident of this place, we say:—

"It is the hottest and the coldest, the driest and the wettest, the richest and the poorest, place on earth."

Officers are either full or empty. If full, all are single happy; apparently there is no thought of the morrow; if empty, their tale of woe is not unlike the sound that issues from the same source in other lands, "hard-times."

We are told that Texas are an ungrateful people; if houses and barns are not full to overflowing, they are mourning the deficiency in crops, when Kentuckians would think the Lord had sent "torth a bonny harvest, and would be frowning themselves about to see if they might lead their neighbors from their full storehouses, and expect no returns.

This climate is hard on northern and eastern folks, especially if they migrate in the springtime, as we did, though the spring and autumn weather surely is not "unpleasant anywhere. This is a bright "sun-shiny land—that I verily believe people have brighter natures and that life looks fairer than it does to those who live where the sun is never in the sky, and the air is never in the breeze. I have lived long full many a time for one of those exquisite, balmy, summer days in old Kentucky, when the sun was hid behind a cloud the live-long day. It would be a relief from the eastern brightness, I feel sure we have not seen six cloudy days in the twelve months.

"Kentucky" is there a land so fair, or a people so proud, that they do not bow to and acknowledge her to rank superior among her sister states for "beautiful women, fine steeds and, and—her never failing hospitality? But, henceforth, I shall regard Texas as a formidable rival in the latter, surely not in the second, for "lucky people" are "a 'ape' in the fatly," and fine horses, all of which are imported, are a rarity. Fair women, like fine horses, are scarce, for "freckles" abound everywhere, and a pink and white complexion, so common at home, is here, in its "natural" state, not when it comes to healthy, robust womanhood, their name is legion.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes. If the kidneys are weak, the blood is impure, and the body is diseased. The kidneys are the great filters of the body, and if they are clogged, the blood is impure, and the body is diseased. The kidneys are the great filters of the body, and if they are clogged, the blood is impure, and the body is diseased.

Kidney trouble causes quick or uneasy heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble. It causes a feeling of over-work in pumping blood, and a feeling of blood through veins and arteries. It is used to be considered that kidney troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The extraordinary effect of Dr. Kline's Swamp Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It is a powerful and wonderful cure of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mailing three stamps free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kline & Co., Banglamin, N.Y.

Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp Root, Dr. Kline's Swamp Root, and the address, Banglamin, N.Y., on every bottle.

are all kinds of people, all kinds of appearing people, and people from everywhere.

An evening at home with my neighbors revealed the fact that a large number of people were suffering from the same ailment. One tall, sylph-like woman says, "Well, I'm a Texan" another, stout and stately, says, "My home was among palm-trees and groves—the sweetest spot on earth." A third, "I'm from the mountains of Tennessee and another, "I came from the rice-fields of Louisiana, then a rather timid woman spoke, "I left my old Kentucky home e'er girl-hood's blush had tinted my cheeks, but I will tell you the old home, the trickling waters from the hillside spring, and even now, in fancy, I see and smell the orchard, pink and white with bloom—all a fragrant mass, before my eyes. I cannot refrain to say it."

I have never seen it since. I cannot refrain from saying that every one respects and honors Kentuckians. They are spoken of and acted toward as the grandest specimens of manhood and womanhood on earth.

Often-times, when walking or driving with friends, I remark, "Who is he or she? They look like Kentuckians." I invariably get a smile for an answer.

Our good home-keeping is greatly admired, yet, one would scarcely think—appreciated, for women, in general, enjoy life an outdoor life, remaining so little in-doors that very necessary duties scarcely receive needed attention. They say, "It is essential to our very existence," but "we think" there are other essentials. All things considered, we like Texas very well, but not here, where, those of the feminine persuasion who persist in waiting their better-half.

New Jersey Man Has Not Slumbered For Ten Years.

Trenton, N. J., June 28.—Albert E. Herpin, the sleepless wonder of Trenton, is still awake, and, according to his own statement, he expects to stay awake the rest of his life. Physicians who, up to the present time, have refrained from making public their opinions of this strange case, now come forward and wonder at the truth of the story that Herpin is the sleepless marvel of the century.

He gives the following account of his experience with Herpin. "When Herpin first came to me for treatment I did not credit his story about remaining 'awake all night. To satisfy myself I proposed a week for a test. One doctor watched him by day and myself at night. Nothing resulted from this test. His pulse kept normal. He lost nothing in weight, and was never nervous. I wanted to give him up to the public at the time, but he would not consent. He was withdrawn his objections now, hence this statement."

As a general proposition the doctors say that fourteen days of sleeplessness usually results in insanity. Herpin's unusual faculties are equally unusual as his physical organs and senses.

The case recalls the statement accredited to Thomas A. Edison some years ago that sleep is a bad habit handed down from the ages in which candles or artificial illumination was used, and was a disadvantage according to Edison's theory men will gradually accustom themselves to fewer hours of sleep, and perhaps in the later stages of evolution live the whole of their allotted time in wakefulness.

PARKER IS THE MAN.

St. Louis, June 30.—John Sharpe Williams, of Mississippi, Democratic leader in the house of representatives, selected for temporary chairman of the national convention to meet in St. Louis next week, says Judge Parker is the strongest man the Democrats can nominate for president. This because he is not an extremist, because no Democrat will have to "eat crow" to accept him, and because he is a healthy man, physically and mentally, with a strong Democratic record behind him.

Mr. Williams came to St. Louis to participate in State University rally day at the fair, and get on the ground early for the convention. He expects to stay until the convention adjourns.

Parker the One Man.

"Mississippi and the South are strong for Parker," said Mr. Williams. "I am a Parker man. I believe he is not only the most available man, but he is pre-eminent the man upon whom all can agree."

Judge Parker is a strong man, healthy in both body and mind, big and strong physically, and has a big brain, with broad views. Furthermore, he has a consistent Democratic record behind him.

Despite the fact that there is a real fight on for first place on the ticket some talk about the vice presidential nomination is heard. Senator Carmack of Tennessee, John Sharpe Williams of Mississippi, and former Congressman Benjamin F. Shriver, of Indiana, have been mentioned. According to the friends of Mr. Bryan the Nebraska is down for two big "stunts" in the convention, one before the committee on credentials and possibly a continuation on the report when it goes into the main gathering, and another speech on the proposed platform. It was in a speech on platform that Mr. Bryan met national fame in an hour. It has not been determined as yet whether he will speak this year for the majority or minority report.

Prohibition Nominations.

Indianapolis, June 30.—The prohibition party in national convention nominated Silas C. Swallow, of Pennsylvania, for president, and George W. Carroll, of Texas, for vice president.

General Miles put on end to the movement to nominate him for president by sending to John C. Woolley a telegram from New York today asking that his name not be presented. This was considered final and the movement to Swallow was unanimously on other names being considered.

GIVING PARKER THE BEST OF IT.

The National Democratic convention will meet in St. Louis today. Its belief is that it will be one of the most interesting and enthusiastic national conventions held in this country in years. The great convention hall will be filled to its capacity, admission being by tickets only. Governor Buchanan and the Kentucky delegation selected the Henderson Route as their official route and left Louisville for the convention the fore part of the week. Kentucky will have one of the largest and most representative delegations at the convention, according to statisticians.

Reward $500

WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States for any case of Leucorrhoea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

Their financial responsibility is well known to every newspaper publisher and druggist in the United States, with most of whom they have done business for over a third of a century. From this fact it will readily be seen how utterly foolish it would be for them to make the above unprecedented and remarkable offer if they were not basing their offer on curative means having an unparalleled record. No other medicine than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription could possibly "win out" as the saying goes, on such a proposition. But they know whereof they speak. They have the most remarkable record of cures made by this world-famed remedy ever placed to the credit of any preparation especially designed for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments. This wonderful remedy, therefore, stands absolutely alone as the only one possessed of such unrivaled curative properties as fully warrant its makers in publishing the remarkable offer above made in the utmost good faith.

$5,000 FORFEIT will also be paid in lawful money of the United States, by the officers of the World's Dispensary Medical Association, if they cannot show the original signature of each individual volunteering the testimonials below, and also of the writers of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing, thus proving their genuineness and the superiority of these medicines.

Miss ROHRBACH, who lives at No. 75 Amsterdam Ave., New York City, and is Treasurer of the Woman's Progressive Union, wrote the following story of her experience:

I am satisfied that half the doctors do not know what really ails their patients, while you have carefully studied the needs of the sick and worn-out, and have skillfully prepared a reliable remedy which will cure in a short time. Two years ago I began to feel "run down" the extreme heat of the summer severely prostrated me, and when fall came I was ill prepared to take up anew the burdens of life. I had headache, backache, and was very nervous; scarcely able to do my work, and I became discouraged. I finally resolved to write you for advice. I purchased two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, two vials of his "Pleasant Pellets," and by using only that small quantity I found wonderful relief. I say to all who are suffering from troubles similar to mine that it is unnecessary to be sick when one can use Dr. Pierce's remedies.

Yours very truly, Miss May Rohrbach.

Miss CARRIE SPRECHER, of Mount Morris, Ill., writes Dr. R. V. Pierce, as follows:

"I was back in my old home when your letter came. I will try and explain regarding the good I received from your medicines. For over one year I suffered from what my physician pronounced womb trouble. Had doctors with doctors in the East and also in the West but found only temporary relief. The next time of my sickness I found myself no better, and in the way it kept going on from time to time until I became discouraged. I finally resolved to write you for advice. I purchased two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, two vials of his "Pleasant Pellets," and by using only that small quantity I found wonderful relief. I say to all who are suffering from troubles similar to mine that it is unnecessary to be sick when one can use Dr. Pierce's remedies."

Yours very truly, Miss May Rohrbach.

What the Result May Be.

New York, June 30.—With the St. Louis convention less than a week off, statisticians are busy, most of them giving Parker the best of it. All agreed that there were many doubtful states and that the votes from these states would be sufficient to determine the result, but the Parker men found much comfort in their figuring.

They claimed 526 on the first ballot, and were willing to concede Hearst only 198. Not counting Porto Rico the admission of whose delegation is uncertain, it takes 664 to nominate.

There are 288 delegates instructed for Parker, but his strength is by no means indicated by this figure, as in many of the Southern states, where it is not customary to instruct, there is a strong Parker sentiment. This is admitted even by the Hearst forces.

Faith Cures.

Am I a faith curist? Yes, in so far that if we take care of our end of the health line, nature will do the rest. And nature's prescription is electricity. She does us with that constantly. But if we expend it faster than she can supply it, we must suffer comparatively.

Man constitutes in himself a suggestive battery, magnetism being a modified form of electricity, or, we might say, the natural fluid refined by contact with the human life principle—soul, spirit, mind or whatever term we choose to adopt for it. As our sensations constitute the pleasures of life, it can be readily seen that the higher we turn on this sensitive delight the more electricity is brought into play, and as we know that excess always reacts for good or depression, it is logical to believe that a super-abundance of electricity must have been expended.

Nature, of course, will apply the loss, but suppose we make the same experiment again before we have fully recovered from the first debauchery. Will there not be a greater debauchery?

Now there are other energies that rob us of this vital energy: overwork, excitement, anger, worry, ag-gravations, trials, etc., all debilitating to the nervous system, the channel or medium through which nature has to supply us. If that medium is out of order, how can she do it?

Health, which is happiness, therefore, depends upon the care we take of ourselves. If we do our duty at its end of the line, nature will do the rest.

Habits and Faces.

BY CHRISTINE TERRHUNE HERRICK.

Copyright, 1904, by Christine Terhune Herrick.

The outdoor life, no less than the indoor life, is bound to leave its mark on a woman's face and bearing.

By this I don't refer only to the effect of wind and sun on the complexion or of fresh air on the general health. I mean as well that the occupation to which one most devotes oneself will in time alter the expression of the countenance. Recognizing this, it behooves the woman who takes up any outdoor sport to avoid the snares connected with such a sport. It is not long since the papers were full of what was known as the "bicycle face." There was no necessity for describing it. We all knew it as soon as we saw it. An eager, anxious look, a straining forward look, sometimes an expression almost of terror—it did not make a pleasant impression upon any one who saw it. The bicycle face was not the property of women alone. Men had it, too, but oddly enough, it was seldom seen on children. They, whose hearts were too busy enjoying their wheels to have any powers to waste on worrying about anything.

That the bicycle face was not a necessary accompaniment of wheeling was proved by the fact that it was not universal. More than that, it was usually to be seen upon the unaccustomed and timid rider. This was perhaps, natural, but when the transient expression was permitted to become permanent, it was either the result of carelessness or of a lack of appreciation of the effect even a passing mood may have on the features if the mood is repeated frequently enough.

Perhaps it is a matter of course that when a timid person learns to ride a wheel the lack of self confidence should for time being show in the face, but this lack of self confidence is not an abiding thing. Unfortunately, however, the look sometimes is. One can see that in other than outdoor pursuits. Facial tricks are easily acquired and even when recognized are hard to shake off. They are worse when their owner fails to know they are in existence.

I was amused one evening to observe the expressions of the faces of several persons who were sitting about a room engaged in various pursuits. At one side of the room an elderly man was writing. All the while the pen moved his lips moved also—not repeating the words he was writing, but twitching back and forth in a nervous fashion, as if the thoughts of the brain had their counterpart in the movements of the lips.

Another member of the family read a book in which she was deeply interested and the play of the author's fancy was indicated by the motions of the reader's eyes brows. When there was something a little nonsensical, or amusing, the brows went up almost into the hair, when there was pathos or matter for indignation the brows were drawn together. It was no wonder that the forehead was a mass of creases, longitudinal and vertical. Next to the reader sat her sister crocheting. I need not write the needle and every time the hook drew the wool through a loop the lips were pursed up. While the mother of the girls, who sewing, snipped her eye energetically with every stitch she set.

Perhaps this may seem an exaggeration, but let any one who questions the possibility of such a set of expressions in one household take the pains to give a little study to the facial tricks of those about her. Possibly the group I instance may have had especially mobile countenances, but there are plenty of others. When we see this sort of thing provoked by ordinary indoor avocations, is it any wonder that a more exciting pursuit leaves its mark on the face?

While bicycling was one of the first sports to receive the honour of having an expression named after it, other sports have followed in its wake. I do not refer now to the expressions gained by athletes. We all know the gaze of the sailor or of the man accustomed to looking over wide spaces of prairie. There is nothing unpleasant about these. It is when the bicycle face means a set look of anxiety or of peevishness, when the fixing of the eye of the note to which the ball must be driven means the golf squint, when the long stride across the links has produced the sloping ungainly gait which has been dubbed the golf walk, that it becomes necessary to give the subject of these idiosyncrasies some serious consideration.

There can be no good thing without the defects of its qualities. Our care must be not to let the defects outweigh the qualities or to permit a really admirable thing to do us harm as well as good.

Take bicycling, for instance.

The wheel may have seemed to lose its popularity for a brief time, but it has come back to play—not, as some one says, as a fad, but as a hourly custom. The day has probably gone by when people go bicycle mad—although when one sees the wheels of the present day one can pardon an occasional attack of mania, but the time has arrived when the bicycle is a matter of course, not only for getting about the country on errands and the like, but also as a factor in developing a higher physical standard. Anything that will make stronger hearts, that will stimulate torpid organs and clear the brain is bound to have the support of thinking people everywhere. A horse or an automobile may take one about and awaken a love of outdoors, but a horse or an automobile is not within the reach of persons of moderate means. Therefore the wheel possesses advantages for the every day man and woman that can be offered by no other means of locomotion.

So good a thing as this should not sink into condemnation because those who use it are too weak or too careless to conquer the few drawbacks connected with it. There is no reason why a bicycle should be the cause of a bowed, hunched-up back or of an unpleasant countenance. If its riders will pay as much attention to their attitudes and their expression as they do to the costumes they wear when riding.

The case is the same with golf, "the royal game." More and more it grows in popularity. The business man finds in it an outdoor sport which gives him exercise and amusement at the same time, and the girl who plays golf has become a recognized feature in our social outdoor life. The game is worthy of all commendation and is doing the work of a life saving station for men who could never before be coaxed from their offices during the daylight hours. But is it to leave an ugly mark upon those who partake of its benefits? Shall that which is admirable on the golf course be transported to the street and the drawing room? Shall the half closed eyes which seem the space to be covered in the next drive be fixed upon one's vis-a-vis at the dinner table? Shall our girls and men take their afternoon stroll or their promenade to church with long sloping steps, dropped shoulders and swinging arms. The pose that is acquired by shouldering the bag of golf clubs or by posing oneself for the drive is out of place except on the links.

Yet if one must choose between these and the dispirited droop of mouth and shoulders that are found among the women who live the stay-at-home life and know nothing of the joys of free exercise in the open air, let us for the love of mercy, have anything but the bicycles or the automobiles or golf or tennis can give us. The one, at least, is a sign of a healthy mode of life, however much we may deprecate the form it takes. But why should one have either?

Already I have tried to indicate in these papers that one need not sacrifice a complexion in order to win proficiency in outdoor sports. The small amount of care that is given to the skin will keep it in tolerable order and the attention that is bestowed upon the expression will not be thrown away. Only recently have our women come to appreciate all that fresh air and systematic exercise will do for their health and looks. There are still too many of them who neglect all these things and are content to lose attractiveness and youth and strength sooner than take the pains to go out of doors. It would make matters infinitely worse if those who have been converted to the gospel of exercise and oxygen should do their own harm by displaying expressions and habits which prejudice the stay-at-homes against the pursuits to which they should be won.

The Lemon as Medicine.

The value of lemons in the treatment of both rheumatism and consumption is now known to be very great. The treatment is to begin with one or two a day and gradually increase the number. In one case of rheumatism twenty-five lemons a day were the dose for a time. As a preventive of illness, however, half a lemon a day is all that should be taken—that is, if taken every day year in and year out. A half a lemon in a cup of hot water taken an hour before breakfast (without any sugar) will annihilate the darkest of dark brown taints in one's mouth. If you make a practice of eating more bitter and sour than is good for you take lemon and hot water every morning—Maxwell's Talamas.

A shrewd preacher.

A preacher advocating the support of a charitable object prefaced the circulation of the boxes with this address: "From the great sympathy I have witnessed in your countenances there is only one thing I am afraid of—that some of you may feel inclined to give too much. Now, it is my duty to inform you that justice should always be a prior virtue to generosity; therefore I wish to have it thoroughly understood that no person will think of putting anything into the box who cannot pay his debts."

The result was an overflowing collection.—London Tit-Bits.

MR. GEO. A. HUGHES

SAYS:

"I FEEL AS GOOD AS I DID AT 20."

Many Suffer With Catarrh and Don't Know It.

The Phase of Catarrh Most Prevalent in Summer is a Run Down, Worn Out Condition Known as Systemic Catarrh.

Mr Geo. A. Hughes.

"Pe-ru-na is the Medicine for the Poor Man."

Mr. Geo. A. Hughes, 608 Mass. Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., writes:

"Peruna has done me more good than anything I have ever taken. I am forty-five years old now, and feel as good as I did at 20. I was very thin and run down, but Peruna acted just right in my case. I am a carpenter and sometimes need a tonic. Peruna is the medicine for a poor man."

A Congressman Uses Pe-ru-na in His Family.

Hon. Thos. J. Henderson, Member of Congress from Illinois, and Lieutenant in the Union Army for eight years, writes from the Lamon building, Washington, D. C., as follows:

"Peruna has been used in my family with the very best results and I take pleasure in recommending your valuable remedy to my friends as a tonic and an effective cure for catarrh."

---Thos. J. Henderson.

Catarrh assumes different phases in different seasons of the year. In the early summer systemic catarrh is most prevalent. That tired, all worn out feeling in nine cases out of ten is due to a catarrhal condition of the mucous membranes. Peruna cleanses the mucous membranes and cures the catarrh wherever located.

There are no remedies for catarrh just as good as Peruna. Accept no substitutes.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.
